
Students

Ph.D. students are highly motivated to study and they are specialists in their field. They need to be responsible, have dispositions for individual scientific and creative work, an active approach towards fulfilling their goals stated in their individual study plan.

